

Hello

I'm Nolan

I do computer stuff for work. Well, not anymore, really. I stand between some people who do computer stuff and the rest of the world. Its not a bad gig; I get to help them be better, and teach them stuff. We make sure the sewage continues its journey to drinking water, so we can capture it again as sewage. Wastewater treatment is really pretty cool and I wish more people knew about it.

I do other stuff too. I like to ride bicycles, and dig holes in my yard. we have a giant garden where we grow vegetables and flowers, and bury chickens when they die. there are also a few dogs and some cats and a hamster and a bobcat out there. a tortoise too- maybe when I get through grieving about Charlie ill tell you about him. there are some kids, and music, and whiskey. wonder and rage are out there too.

take a look around. there is a little bit of what I've learned here, and my friend Dan puts in some notes too. maybe ill keep this up.

11.16.23

Revision #1

Created 17 November 2023 07:19:24 by Nolan

Updated 17 November 2023 07:37:05 by Nolan